

These Walls Are Sacred

1 These walls are sa - cred as the stones of the tem - ple where 2 The Word that is spok - en can pierce like a proph - et, 3 The heal - ing we find can be whole as the clean - sing when the 4 The friend - ship we share can be deep as the mys - t'ry of the God's peo - ple wor - shipped the An - cient of Days. stab - bing our hearts with the Lord's own fierce hand. The lep - er when leap - ing and danc - ing a - long. The Up - per Room meal when he called us all friends. The

This flame is ho - ly as the fire on the al - tar where com - fort we share can be strong as the shep - herd, jus - tice we seek can be sweet as the Ju - bi - lee when the love that we know is more than for - ev - er with the God's peo - ple lift - ed their voic - es in praise.

 lead - ing by the wat - ers in a shad - ow - y land. "For where poor and the home - less all joined in the song.
 One who has prom - ised that love nev - er ends.

two or three are gath - ered in me, there I am in the midst of them."
